MEMORANDUM FOR: Director, Intelligence Community Staff

THROUGH:

Associate General Counsel for

Intelligence Community Affairs

FROM:

Office of General Counsel

SUBJECT:

Authorities of the Director of the Intelligence Community Staff

1. In response to your request, this memorandum sets_forth your various substantive and administrative authorities. \pm order to appreciate fully your various authorities and functions, the first section of this memorandum briefly outlines the history of the Intelligence Community Staff (IC Staff). The second portion of this memorandum enumerates the various functions currently performed by the IC Staff and discusses whether there has been an adequate delegation of authority to the IC Staff to perform these functions. The concluding section consists of recommendations for your consideration. These recommendations are made so that you will have the opportunity to seek modification of any current delegations of authority in order to ensure that they are fully consistent with the current functions of the IC Staff.

History of the Intelligence Community Staff

National Security Act of 1947: In order to trace the history of the Intelligence Community Staff, a brief reference to the National Security Act of 1947 is necessary because it is this Act which obligates the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), under the direction of the National Security Council (NSC), to coordinate the intelligence activities of the various Government departments and agencies. Specifically, section 102(d) of the Act requires the Agency to: 1) advise the NSC in matters concerning
